

Design Assessment Survey

The le ray DESIGN Assessment process:

The Design Assessment Survey helps our clients to collect their thoughts to identify personal preferences and challenges. This helps determine the visual elements and solutions that will resonate with our client's goals and ensures that we have the pertinent details to move ahead.

When you complete this survey, you'll schedule a 30 minute telephone review with your le ray designer.

The Survey:

- ✚ The first and most intensive part of the Design Assessment examines your image, customers, brand, differentiators and much more. Take sufficient time to give this section the thought it requires.

An important part of this process is factoring in your personal style – this keeps your identity from being sterile. It also means that your customers engage with a personality from the second they enter your space.

- ✚ The second portion of the assessment gets into your need and space logistics.
- ✚ The final section lists details needed for implementation, issues, budget, material preferences, time frame etc.

The Assessment:

When you complete the Design Assessment Survey, we will schedule a systematic site review. This sees our le ray designer make a comprehensive evaluation of your space, and how people work in it.

To be effective in aligning brand and productivity, we need to see how your staff and visitors respond to the space and style elements.

- ⇒ We strongly recommend that this session is scheduled on a regular working day, but that you advise your staff that they will need to interact with our le ray designer to help determine their perceptions of the space, their interaction with peers, and their flow of work within the space.

This onsite portion is usually 2-4 hours in duration.

The Outcome:

Within 48 hours of the assessment, your le ray designer will provide you with:

- ✚ a comprehensive recommendation for the most effective and engaging use of the total space
- ✚ Proposed solutions to any problems discovered
- ✚ Sketches, assessment notes and recommendations for implementation
- ✚ Identification of recommended products, finishes, furnishings, colour scheme and material.

Your le ray designer would be pleased to schedule further time with you to identify any of our a la carte services to research, develop working drawings, or meet with your trades people. As well, le ray DESIGN is available to fully manage design implementation.
